ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for determining patent license fee data in a networked computing environment. The method and apparatus involve algorithmic determination of an exposure rate to be applied in determining the patent license fee data. The exposure rate may be determined in function of a licensor patent count, alone or in combination with other factors bearing on the strength of the licensor's patents.

4005954 . 120504